

Hello, Professor Nguyen

I would like to thank you for your time teaching Introduction to Software Engineering; even though I had a difficult time in the middle of this semester, I do believe the beginning and the end were very productive, with Me, Ximena, and Fey working together to build our "Call.Us" project.

I would like to especially thank you for your time discussing your life, your experiences through college, and tips for the future, as these were always fun, and added another special occasion for class interaction. The guest speakers were also extremely helpful, as they were able to answer my questions regarding a lot of things Computer-Science related.

Regarding the content specifically, I think the classes were organized in a way that was easy to follow; if I had to give a recommendation, however, is to not focus too much on questions that involve graphics, as at least for me, I am not a visual learner, so those were pretty challenging for me. Everything else content-related was really good, however.

Finally, I want to again thank you for your time teaching this subject, I believe the class was really fun and engaging, and also, I want to apologize again for the mid part of the semester, in which I know I committed mistakes.

Thank you, professor Nguyen, I hope you have a great summer!
